

Research Talent Development Program

Oslo, June 4th 2020

Agreement

We hereby agree that the accepted candidate to the Pilot Research talent development program, fall 2020-spring 2021 will receive:

- Tools in order to develop knowledge and understanding on how to build a research career, nationally and internationally
 - Skills in developing competitive grant Applications
 - Skills in communicating and disseminating research results to different target groups
 - Develop knowledge and understanding about research ethics, RRI and innovation

The candidate will not have any administration and/or teaching duties during the program period (August 1st 2020-June 30th 2021). The department hosting the candidate will receive funding from the faculty to cover expenses related to this. If the candidate agrees together with the program leader to perform other duties during the program period – the time used is expected to be added to her/his research time fall 2021.

The Program will cover expenses related to program seminars and up to NOK 100 000,- in expenses to cover action points defined together with the program leader.

We hereby agree that the participant will promise to:

- Participate actively in all program activities
- Devote her/his time completely in order to achieve sub-goals defined in individual action plan defined in the program period
 - To share knowledge acquired from the program to colleagues, students, other relevant persons

Signature Candidate

Signature Department Head

Signature Study leader

Signature research group leader

Signature Vice-Dean